When most needed it is not unusual for your family physician to be away from home. Such was the experience of Mr. J. Y. Schenck, Editor of The Caddo, Ind. Ter., Banner, when his little girl, two years of age, was threatened with a severe attack of croup. He says: "My wife insisted that I go for the doctor, but as our family physician was out of town I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which relieved her im WHERE mediately. I will not be without it in the future." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by J. James Wood, Drugggist.

BENTON'S GRAVE.

Nothing to Mark the Spot Where Missouri's Idel Rests.

Among America's neglected graves is that of Thomas H. Benton, in Bellefon taine Cemetery, writes a correspondent of The St. Louis Republic. A marble shaft, of modest proportions, when compared with the lofty piles seen near by, stands in the center of the lot, and upon it are the family names, Brant and Benton. At the rear end of the lot is a line of graves-nine in all-and above each is foot in width, and about three feet in height. The stones have for inscriptions simply the names of the persons in whose memories they are placed.

Tickets will be sold between all points on the Big Four Route, good going December 24th, 25th and 31st, 1895, and January 1st, 1896, good returning until January 2d, 1896, inclusive.

D. B. Martin, General Passenger and Ticket Agent; E. O. M. Cormick, Passenger Traffic Manager. memories they are placed.

There are no dates on any of the stones and nothing to indicate that under one of them rest the remains of one of the giants of the early days of the state. The lot is neatly kept-as are all the lots in a well-ordered burial-ground-but the graves bear no marks indicating that special attention is given to them. That of the great statesman is sinking to the level of the ground about it, and in a short time, if left to itself, it will dissolve its fading outlines and be merged with and lost in the sod. The little stone with its brief inscription has become undermined, and unless soon restored may fall to the ground.
